STOCK MARKET

Sufficient Banking Credits to Last Until Dividend and Interest Disbursements.

BONDS FIND READY SALE

PRICE OF COPPER RAISED WITH GOOD EFFECT.

New York, Dec. 28.-The notable strength and breadth of the stock market today seemed to be based on a fresh realization of the favorable factors in the general situation, rather than on any ew developments. Evidently there has been some apprehension that there would be a temporary scarcity of banking credits during the period of the annual settlements that might restrict the resources on which speculative holders could rely to carry their holdings. The complexion of the bank statement which appeared or Saturday during the closed interval of the stock exchange was accepted as pretty definite assurance that the dreaded period of temporary scarcity would be safely bridged. The heavy contraction which has been effected in the clearing house item of loans during the past two weeks has been concurrent with a recognized expansion in the actual volume of banking credits, on which heavy demands have been made in that time. Part of the accommodation is traceable in the renovated form of the weekly bank statement to form of the weekly bank statement to the trust companies of New York city. The speculative spirit was discernible in the bond market as well as in stocks. In some bond issues there was a scramble in evidence which caused as volatile a movement in prices as is the rule in stocks. In the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific collateral 5s there was seen the spectacle, unusual in bond transactions, of a "wide opening," sales being made of 60 of these opening, sales being made of the sebonds at prices ranging from 90 to 91 at the same instant, while the last price at which these bonds sold on Thursday was 88. The breadth of the bond market showed that there was an active demand of a substantial character. The reinvest-ment of sums which are to be disbursed

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 28 .- The wheat market opened strong with prices up a shade to 5%, but failed to maintain the initial firmness owing to the selling of the May delivery by a leading elevator interest. The close was steady with May at 1.06% and July at 98% 698%. Trade in general was small. The bulge at the start was due to further delay to harvesting in Argentine owing to web weather and to the smallness of the world's shipments for the week. Total shipments of wheat for the past week were 6,048,000 bushels, com-pared with 8,608,000 bushels the corresponding time a year ago. Aside from these influences no news of sufficient importance drifted into the pit to inspire either buying or selling and in consequence the market was a dragging affair the great-er part of the day. No export business was reported and demand for cash wheat
